

About Save Lives Oregon

Save Lives Oregon is a community of organizations working together to prevent overdose, save lives and support safer communities. Together, we're working to reduce drug-related harm and undo the stigma associated with drug use.

We believe people who use drugs deserve access to programs that promote their health and safety. And we know we must do more to support them — especially those impacted by injustice, oppression and trauma.

As a Save Lives Oregon partner, you can support pathways to hope, healing and health for people who use drugs in your community. Whether you're in rural Oregon, a tribal community, or an urban area, we're here for you.

Support for your organization

These resources are available to Save Lives Oregon partners — all at no cost. Whether you are new to harm reduction or want to grow your existing offerings, we are here to help.

1. Save Lives Oregon Clearinghouse

Receive supplies such as life-saving naloxone and wound care kits at no cost.

2. Technical Assistance

Connect with personalized guidance and support to grow your harm reduction offerings.

3. Communications Toolkit

Access useful tools for cultivating support for harm reduction.

Who can become a partner?

Organizations that directly serve people who use drugs can become a Save Lives Oregon partner.

All partners can receive training, technical assistance, and our communications toolkit. There are more requirements for receiving supplies through the Save Lives Oregon Clearinghouse. (See page 2 for details.)

"When you ask someone how you can help or what they need to feel safe, you get a lot more buy-in and trust from the community. That's a beautiful thing that can create some really positive change."

About the Save Lives Oregon Clearinghouse

The Save Lives Oregon Clearinghouse provides life-saving harm reduction supplies at no cost to partner organizations that qualify. You can also receive training on how to meet program requirements, best practices for promoting supplies to the people you serve, and more.

Available supplies

Please view the Clearinghouse application at SaveLivesOregon.org/apply for a list of supplies that are currently available.

Supplies may include:

- Overdose prevention supplies such as naloxone
- Wound care supplies
- Safer use supplies, such as new syringes
- Personal sharps containers

How to Apply

Follow these steps to apply for no-cost harm reduction supplies.

Step 1: Find out if your organization is eligible. To qualify for no-cost supplies, your organization must fall into one of the following categories:

- Community-based organizations with 501(c)(3) status or 501(c)(3) fiscal sponsorship
- Harm Reduction and Syringe Service Programs within Community Health Clinics or FQHCs
- Local Public Health Authority Harm Reduction and Syringe Service Programs
- Tribal community and health care programs that serve people who use drugs
- Withdrawal management/Residential SUD treatment programs for clients who are turned away, dismissed or leave
- Uniformed First Responder agencies implementing 'Leave Behind' naloxone distribution programs
- Jails providing release packets that include naloxone and/or other harm reduction supplies to people who may be at risk of overdose when they are released

Step 2: Apply online. Visit SaveLivesOregon.org/apply to get started.

Step 3: Order supplies. If you are approved for the Clearinghouse, we will connect with you about next steps and send you a supply order form.

Step 4: Receive supplies and support, including technical assistance and our communications toolkit.

Step 5: Distribute supplies and receive continued support. As you deliver supplies to your community, we'll stay connected with you and continue to provide guidance and support.

Meet our Leadership Team

Our leadership team has decades of experience with harm reduction in Oregon and tribal communities. We are here to support you as you integrate harm reduction strategies into your existing work.
